Children will be provided with regular feedback on the work that they submit. Individual comments may be attached to pieces of work or feedback may be given during the live session with the class teacher.

Live online sessions

We understand the value in the children being able to have face-to-face contact with their class teacher whilst they are learning from home and so we have organised for live online sessions to be held on a daily basis. Each phase will have a dedicated time where the children will be invited to join a google meet with their class, if they are available to do so. These live sessions may be used for multitude of different purposes, such as teaching a new concept, explaining how to complete a task, reading a story or giving feedback on previous learning.

Guidelines for live sessions:

Please discuss the following expectations for the live sessions with your child. Teachers will also discuss expectations with the children during the first meeting.

- Face to face sessions will be in groups.
- Children should wear suitable clothing.
- Children should ideally be situated in a suitable 'public' area within the home with an appropriate background.
- Maintain the standard of behaviour expected in school.
- Use the necessary equipment and computer programs as intended.
- Do not record, store, or distribute video material without permission.

Live sessions will begin on Tuesday 5th January. The timings are as follows and will remain the same each day:

The live session on Tuesday will be used to check that children can access the meeting, explain expectations, check audio and as a general welcome back.

The teachers have worked hard to ensure that the children will be able to access a range of engaging learning activities and they are looking forward to welcoming the children back online.

Children who are attending our critical worker provision will be accessing the same resources and will be able to join the live sessions with their class teacher.

We will continue to keep you informed of any changes to these procedures if they arise. Please contact the school office if you have any further queries.

Yours sincerely,

The Leadership Team
